To whom it may concern:

We purchased our MOGS 100 Oxygen Generator in 2008 or 2009. We are a County Ambulance service with 13 contract agencies working under our system. Prior to our purchase of this unit, we were contracting with a company to supply oxygen for our system. Our "D" cylinders were disappearing as other agencies were helping themselves to our system cylinders. As we looked at our system costs for the refilling of cylinders and bottle rental of the large oxygen cylinders, we found we were paying a large amount of money each year on oxygen and the replacement of the "D" cylinders that were disappearing. In order to solve our problem, we purchased the MOGS 100 unit to fill our own cylinders.

In less than three years, we were able to save enough money to pay for the MOGS 100 unit with the oxygen needs of our system. The crews are now in charge of filling their own "D" cylinders so we prevent the loss of cylinders to other agencies.

The MOGS 100 Oxygen Generator has run almost flawlessly in our system. It is like any other piece of equipment and requires regular maintenance. Keeping up with the required maintenance prolongs the life of the unit and prevents major repair work. It is an extremely reliable unit and well worth the investment.

Respectfully,
