LOCAL COMPANY CONTINUES EFFORTS TO AID HAITI

Oxygen Generating Systems Intl. (OGSI) of North Tonawanda, NY is continuing its efforts to aid the relief in Haiti. In addition to the oxygen generating systems OGSI originally supplied in February 2010, they have most recently installed an oxygen generating system at the main general hospital in Port au Prince, Haiti. This OGSI hospital oxygen system produces 250 liters of oxygen per minute, and has the capacity to fill back-up oxygen cylinders. The system installation was sponsored, as a charitable action, by a Christian Non-Government Organization (NGO).

OGSI was selected to help design another oxygen system that has been commissioned by an NGO to be installed in a new teaching hospital that is expected to open in June of 2011 in Mirebalais. This 400 bed hospital will be equipped with an OGSI OGS-1000 Oxygen Generating System that produces 500 liters per minute with back-up cylinder filling capability. In an effort to contribute to the restoration of Haiti, OGSI has substantially discounted the systems sold to NGO's and has pro-actively established a maintenance and service schedule to be facilitated locally in Haiti.

OGSI systems can supply both high pressure oxygen for cylinder filling, as well as low pressure oxygen for central supply systems. Typically those who are most susceptible to oxygen supply shortages are: coastal areas (natural disasters); heavily populated areas (pandemics); and remote locations (failed deliveries). Often times, those in remote areas have oxygen delivery sources that are a great distance away and subsequently have an unreliable oxygen supply. By producing medical grade oxygen onsite, these Haitian hospitals that have previously relied on delivered cylinder oxygen, now have the ability to be completely self-sufficient and eliminate oxygen shortages in the event of any disaster.
